EPOTEC Goes Natural

A natural pool is so designed that you can swim in pure, clean water, with no chemicals. Just natural organisms and plants do the cleaning work. The water is claimed to be soft and silky, as natural water is. The styles of such pools and their features are almost unlimited. It's possible to retro fit existing pools too. In Germany there are already 150 public natural pools and it's catching on here for the same reasons. No chemicals and lower annual operating costs.

EPOTEC in black has been used to seal the surface of this wonderful pool in Silverdale NSW, and give a deep inspiring colour. For more information contact us or www.gartenart-australia.com

Emerald Epotec

Chris in Turramurra, Sydney has recently taken his aged painted pool and created an amazing transformation using EPOTEC. The colour chosen was Emerald, a deep blue green. Chris has a couple of money saving tips. The first was: the water in pool was still in good condition and was fed through his high pressure cleaner to smarten up the house and pathways. Secondly, go "online" to get a new 12 v programmable light which looks fantastic with the emerald coloured pool coating. He found the process of EPOTEC application straightforward though applied a 3rd coat on the steps. "The pool looks great now".
